

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Honolulu.
Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in time of danger.
Backache is kidney danger.
Doan's Backache Kidney Pills act quickly.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.
Mrs. Margaret Cook, 650 E. Hunter St., Logan, Ohio, says: "Six years ago I was taken with a stroke of paralysis and when I recovered, I found that my kidneys were badly disordered. My back ached nearly all the time and a bearing-down feeling across my kidneys was so intense that I could scarcely drag myself about. I had no ambition or energy. I lost flesh until I looked like a walking skeleton and though I doctored constantly, I found no relief. I was unable to sleep well and it seemed as if there were no cure for me. Finally someone advised me to take Doan's Backache Kidney Pills and I got a box. They made a marked improvement and the pains and aches gradually became less severe. I gained in weight and was soon able to do my housework with ease. I publicly recommended this remedy three years ago and I am now glad to give it my endorsement."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50), or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name, Doan's and take no substitute.

LAST STAND OF THE CONFEDERACY OVER

Old Glory Waves Again in Liberty, Missouri, After Absence of Fifty Years.

LIBERTY, Missouri, November 9.—After fifty years Clay County, Missouri, has come back to the Union. For the first time since the beginning of the war the American flag is flying over the courthouse here, and South and North are one again. The same man who pulled the Stars and Stripes down from the flagstaff in 1861 raised them again in 1912, and the war is over.

In the first year of the Civil War, John W. Hall, a soldier in Gen. Sterling Price's brigade, hoisted a Confederate flag over the courthouse at Liberty, while north of the Missouri river, was in Clay County, settled largely by Kentuckians, and named for Henry Clay. The people were intensely Southern in their sympathies, and hundreds of them enlisted in the Southern armies.

They were too far North, however, and too close to Kansas and Fort Leavenworth to be allowed to secede from the Union, and shortly after the Confederate flag was raised a body of Federal troops swooped down on the town and drove the rebels out. The Stars and Stripes again were hoisted on the courthouse and flew there until the Federal troops had left. Then the flag was hauled down, and from that time until now never was raised again. The old flagstaff weathered the storms of many years. The halliards rotted away and finally the staff itself fell and was not replaced.

Recently the Daughters of the American Revolution in Liberty, nearly all of them also members of the Daughters of the Confederacy, noted the absence of the flag from the courthouse and took up the matter with the county court. They persuaded the officials to purchase a new flagstaff and buy a new flag. An old-time flag raising was planned and the event was made a holiday for Liberty.

Hall still lives in Liberty and now is state commander of the United Confederate Veterans. To him was delegated the honor of raising the new flag, and as he slowly hauled up the ensign the loudest cheer that Liberty has heard since the days when the rebel yell echoed through Liberty's streets rent the air.

General Hall's eyes filled with tears as the red and blue folds of the flag swung out in the autumn breeze and there were plenty of other eyes that moistened as the crowd, among which were many gray-haired veterans of the North and South, sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in a bass that broke often into the same treble that came from the school children gathered around.

"Glory to God, Liberty's come back into the Union!" shouted an old Union veteran, and a chorus of "Amen!" came from the ex-Confederates. And now that Liberty and Clay County are back again in the Union, the county court has promised that the flag will be raised every holiday.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE, REGRETS RESIGNATION

Although Secretary Mott-Smith failed to hear when he would be relieved, by yesterday's mail, he did receive a letter from Secretary of the Interior Fisher, which was a cheering epistle.

Secretary Fisher wrote that he regretted that he was prevented, by Mott-Smith's desire to retire, from advising against the acceptance of his resignation, but he realized that after the territorial secretary's long service he was entitled to give his private affairs attention.

He said he deeply appreciated Mott-Smith's faithful and energetic administration of his office, and also appreciated the aid which the territorial secretary had given him during his investigation of conditions here.

W. D. Aiken, school commissioner of Maui, is in the city on business pertaining to his office.

Father J. P. Houlihan, chaplain of the 15th Cavalry, is in the city visiting friends.

Democratic Senator-Elect Who Will Oppose Any Free Sugar Bill

SENATOR-ELECT SHAFROTH, OF COLORADO.

COULDN'T GET A RISE OUT OF GOVERNOR ON ORIENTAL VOTE, WHICH HAS INCREASED

Governor Frear was sitting in his office yesterday afternoon engaged in wording his Thanksgiving proclamation when Territorial Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith hurried in.

"I have just been looking over the official returns from the recent election," he said, "and I find that the oriental vote shows a remarkable increase. It strikes me as being of the utmost importance and something that should be looked into at once."

"Hum!" remarked the Governor. "I have here," continued the Secretary, "figures showing that in the second representative district on Hawaii the Japanese vote has increased 700 per cent since the election of two years ago."

The Governor smiled. "That district had one Japanese vote two years ago, and it has seven now, isn't that what you mean?" he said. "I did expect to get a rise out of you that time," said the secretary regretfully.

According to the official returns, there has been a slight increase in the oriental vote, but nothing equal to that in the second district of Hawaii where six Japanese citizens have joined the one who held the franchise two years ago.

"MR. FARRIA, GOVERNOR," RECEIVES SPECIAL REQUEST TO SETTLE DOMESTIC PILIKIA

Receiving mail addressed to the "High Chief of Oahu" one day, Governor Frear yesterday received a missive from a Latin-American in San Francisco with the superscription "Mr. Farria, Governor."

The writer who evidently believes the Governor is a fellow countryman, it appears has in the past had domestic troubles of a sort on Maui, and he wanted "Governor Farria" to hurry over to that island and settle things for him. He closed by saying that he was "all rite" and he "hoped Mr. Farria was all rite."

In addition to this letter, the Governor's mail yesterday included one from a stenographer who wanted the Governor to get her a job; one from a woman who wanted him to send her a list of the furniture stores in Honolulu, and another wanted to know the standing of the public schools of the city, and a man in India wanted information on the aquarium.

These are but samples of the letters which the Governor receives in every mail, and contrary to the custom of most governors, he answers them all personally.

GOVERNOR ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION OF THANKSGIVING

In issuing his Thanksgiving proclamation today, setting aside next Thursday for observance, Governor Frear says that the year has been full of good gifts for the people of Hawaii, and that in no part of the country has there been a greater degree of prosperity and progress. He therefore recommends that the people observe the day in the traditional and appropriate manner by gathering for praise, thanksgiving and prayer, holding family reunions, entertaining strangers, ceasing from usual pursuits, and dispensing charity.

THREE DECADES OF HINDU EXPERIENCE

"Cleanings From Thirty Years in India" will be the theme of the address of Rev. E. C. Seudder in Central Union Church next Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Seudder landed in Honolulu last Monday and will leave for the mainland December 3. Mr. Seudder is the brother of Rev. Frank S. Seudder, superintendent of the Japanese department of the Hawaiian board, and a cousin of Doctor Seudder of Central Union Church. He hails from Vellore, a city in the Arcot district in Southern Hindustan.

Having been preceded by his father and grandfather in missionary work for Hindus Mr. Seudder counts the Tamil as well as English language as native to his thought and tongue. His acquaintance with the people of his part of India and their problems is exhaustive. Honolulu rarely has the privilege of getting into touch with a man so conversant with conditions in that great Eastern Empire, whose civilization is so ancient and whose ruling ideas are so different from our own.

HAWAII MAY PUT RELIANCE IN SENATE

Democrats Must Have Fifty-one Seats to Pass a Free Sugar Bill.

THREE BOURBONS OPPOSE

Bristow Amendment Probable to Be Passed as Compromise in Tariff Revision.

By Ernest G. Walker.
(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, November 8.—Hawaii has some good friends among the house Democrats, although, as is well understood, that friendship in the house does not extend to the very important question of sugar duties. Otherwise the territory's representatives can take up the business of the next two years there with confidence and also with assurance of considerable treatment on the merit of the proposition submitted.

The situation becomes more interesting in the senate. Whether control of that body is to pass absolutely to the Democrats or whether the balance of power is to continue with the Progressive Republicans is uncertain. Enough is already known to make sure that the Democrats, if in a majority in the senate, will hardly have more than two or three votes to spare. That is exceedingly important to Hawaii, because of its bearing upon the possibilities of getting a sugar revision bill to the President after March 4 next.

Representative Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee has declared in favor of an extra session of congress to revise the tariff in the spring. President-elect Wilson has declined to say what he intends to do on that score. There have been rumors that he would not call an extra session, because he did not wish to frighten business. The chances are strong, however, that there will be an extra session and that an attempt will be made to revise the tariff during the coming spring and summer. The political and business logic is all in favor of such action.

Shafroth Will Oppose.

The dispatches from Denver says that Governor John F. Shafroth has been elected as one of the two United States senators to begin service from Colorado March 4 next. He is on record in favor of a duty on sugar, because of the large beet sugar interests in his State. Ex-Governor Thomas, who apparently will be his colleague in the senate, is willing to vote for free sugar, as favored by the house Democrats. But there are three Democratic votes in the senate to be depended upon against the house program and if it turns out that the Democrats have no more than fifty seats in the senate after March 4, there is little or no danger of free sugar. The two Louisiana senators and one from Colorado, in connection with the Regular and Progressive Republicans can prevent free sugar from being enacted upon a tariff revision bill. But if the Democrats have fifty-one seats, as may happen, the senate vote would then be a tie on free sugar and the new Vice-President, Mr. Marshall, would have the deciding voice. He would be for free sugar.

For Bristow Amendment.

The regular and Progressive Republican strength in the senate will probably be very solidly for the Bristow provision. This, it will be remembered, abolishes the Dutch standard and the refiners' differential, which are not regarded as of great consequence by sugar producers. The Bristow provision would impose .95 of one per cent upon 75 degree sugar and for every degree of purity above that .026 of one per cent additional. This would require 96 degree sugar to pay 1.49 per cent and 100 degree sugar to pay 1.60 per cent.

If the Democrats have anything under fifty-one seats in the senate after March 4, the prospects are that any tariff revision bill passing there would carry something very like the Bristow provision. What might happen in conference by way of compromise is, of course, a matter of conjecture, but the situation would likely prevent the house free sugar program.

Fair to Hawaii.

As to Hawaiian legislation generally, it probably makes very little difference whether the Republicans or the Democrats organize the senate after March 4. The men of both parties, in charge of legislation at that end of the Capitol, are seasoned to their duties and, as a rule, disposed to give Hawaii her full due.

There is little or nothing to be said yet about the program for the forthcoming session of congress, which will be coincident with the closing months of the Taft administration. There will be much pressure for consideration of minor matters but bills that are stoutly opposed and require title for consideration will have little chance. Congress will probably be quite liberal with appropriations. There will be less demand for economy in expenditures than there was last session. Furthermore, the money voted this winter will be put down to the credit of the Taft administration. If congress is fairly generous this winter it will be all the easier to economize next winter when the Democrats have the situation to themselves.

The retirement of Col. E. W. Mansfield, Second Infantry, on account of age, on November 11, 1913, will promote Lieut. Col. Samuel W. Miller, Infantry; Maj. Henry D. Myer, Twenty-Ninth Infantry; and Capt. George G. Gayer, Sixteenth Infantry. There will be no promotions from the grade of lieutenant in the infantry until about twenty captains are absorbed from the quartermaster corps.

HERE'S A SHOCK FOR REPUBLICANS

Supervisors-elect Want List of Names and Pay of All City Employees.

The newly-elected Democratic supervisors-to-be will ask the city clerk today to furnish them with a list of all the appointed salaried employees of the city, with a list of their salaries. If this request doesn't send the shivers down a number of Republican spines, perhaps the hint that pressure is being brought to bear upon the supervisors-elect to make a clean sweep of the city departments, replacing every Republican employee by a tried and true Democrat, will. The sweep desired is to take in the fire department, road department, garbage department, health department and all the other departments that have not elected heads, and even these latter departments will be made to feel that there has been a change of administration.

The Democratic supervisor-elect had a caucus yesterday, together with Bortran Rivenburgh and W. E. Miles. The question of patronage did not come up directly, but it was resolved to secure the list of salaried employees in order to have it handy for a later meeting, to be held on Sunday morning. An invitation to the present had been extended to the lone Republican member of the new board, Andrew Cox, but he evidently prefers not to be in such a minority until it is unavoidable, and he did not answer the rollcall.

The main business at yesterday's caucus was a discussion of probable ways and means for the carrying out of some sort of systematic road policy. The members-elect will get a list of the road work to be under way on January 1, and an estimate on the amount needed to carry on the projects to completion. There was some discussion, also, on the advisability of consolidating some of the departments in the interests of economy.

At the Sunday meeting will be taken up the matter of selecting committee chairmen and an apportionment of the honors of office.

The members of the Democratic county committee are said to be watching these caucuses carefully in order to call a halt at the first sign of supervisorial independence in the way of patronage giving.

TECHNICALITY AN EXCUSE FOR FREEDOM

Counsel for Chung Nung, the Chinese sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Robinson last spring, for assault on a little girl, has carried the case to the supreme court asking for a writ of error and the setting aside of the circuit court's decree.

The petition is based on an allegation that Judge Robinson did not reduce to writing, his charge to the jury, but delivered it orally, without the previous approval or consent of the counsel for the defendant. The transcript of evidence ordered, is expected to show whether this assertion is based on fact.

PLANTATION BONUS FOR LABORERS SOON

The remainder of the bonus which all the sugar plantations agreed to give the day laborers for their year's work, will be paid by the end of the month, or at least will accompany their November pay. The plantations paid a large amount of the bonus to the laborers with their October pay. One plantation has a fortune of $58,000 to distribute among its employees. Basing other plantations on this amount the entire bonus will reach several hundred thousand dollars, although the exact figures have not been received by the local representatives of the plantations. The planters' association report as to the laborers on the plantations is that they are all apparently content with the present system and are inclined to remain close to the estates. The contractors appeared to have done well.

DEMOCRATS WOULD CUT DOWN CAVALRY FORCE

Another effort will be made in the approaching congress to reduce the strength of the cavalry. It is understood that it will not originate with Chairman Hay, of the military affairs committee, but certain Democrats in the house have not given up their idea of a reduction in the cavalry along the lines of the attempt that was made at the last session of congress.

According to reports that are current in Washington, Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, is an advocate of the reduction of the cavalry by five regiments. President Taft and the Republican senate will be more determined in their stand against any reduction of the cavalry than they were at last session. The President, it is said, will not hesitate to veto either a special bill or an appropriation bill which contains any such provision, and it is not probable that any legislation reducing the cavalry will pass congress before March 4. What will be the attitude of President-elect Wilson and the senate, if it is Democratic, after March 4, can only be conjectured.

The Chinaman who thrice shot his partner in a row over money on River street some time ago was taken from the city jail where he is awaiting trial to the Queen's Hospital last night, sick. At midnight the hospital physicians telephoned the police that he had but a short time more to live.

TO TAKE ACTION ON CHARTER PROBLEM

Merchants' Association Board of Directors Favors Wide Discussion.

A COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

Men's League Prepares for Its Great Annual Meeting on Monday.

Action was taken by the merchants' association at the meeting of its board of directors yesterday afternoon in regard to the proposed general meeting of representatives of various organizations to consider the best plan for agitating for a new city charter embodying a form of elective commission government which will give Honolulu a more consolidated form of government.

A letter was read by Secretary Lennox from the special committee of the civic federation asking for the appointment of representatives to attend a charter meeting, which is expected to approve of a charter plan and assist in arousing public opinion in its favor. There was considerable discussion and it was resolved unanimously to join in the movement.

President A. J. Gignoux named three representatives, and may make the special committee one of five members to include Ed Towse and another member who has also made a special study of municipal conditions. Those named yesterday were George W. Smith, a student of affairs municipal; T. M. Church and John Effinger, all well known and public spirited citizens.

The special meeting which will probably be called for next week, following the annual meeting of the Men's League of the Central Union Church, at which Governor Frear will speak on Monday evening, is expected to be a representative one, at which all will be welcome as citizens and representatives of civic and commercial organizations.

Men's League Meeting.

Interest in the coming annual meeting of the Men's League of Central Union Church, Monday night, seems to be widespread. The response to the invitation issued a few days ago is larger than usual so early in the week.

The executive committee announced yesterday that they had secured as other speakers upon the "New Charter for Honolulu," besides Governor Frear, who will give the opening address, Messrs. H. Gooding Field, W. R. Farrington, and Wm. T. Rawlins, one of whom at least will speak against the proposed new charter.

The meeting cannot fail to be one of the liveliest the league has yet held and it is hoped may result in something definite toward the securing of definite legislation upon this important matter.

Preparing for Action.

Governor Frear yesterday received a quantity of additional literature bearing on the commission form of government, public utilities commissions and the workman's compensation act, including several books written by authorities on these subjects.

PARCELS POST FULLY ENDORSED

Especially Zone Rate Increase Is Approved by Merchants' Association.

It was an exceedingly well attended meeting of the board of directors of the merchants' association which was held in the headquarters in the Young Building yesterday afternoon. President A. J. Gignoux was in the chair and Secretary John Lennox brought up the various matters to be acted upon in a number of communications and all members took part with interest in the discussions. The meeting was full of life. Besides taking action upon the question of a proposed new city charter the board also acted upon a communication from the Ad Club, which sent in a series of resolutions endorsing the new parcels post bill, which provides for zones of rates. There was some discussion in regard to the bill and it was favored as it stands. Especially was the provision regarding the zones in which the rates increase as the distance increases from a given spot, approved.

It was determined to send the resolution passed by the board in favor of the bill as it stands to the Delegate to Congress and to the U. S. senate, acceding, however, the zone rate provision.

A report from the commercial congress held in Hilo, September 20-23, which advocates added support for the promotion committee in the future, was received and read. There was some discussion during which there was a general expression that the committee should have more support in its good work and it was decided to call upon the legislators to act accordingly.

Another question in regard to the promotion committee was as to facilities for tourists. This had been referred to the board at a meeting of the membership, but it was determined yesterday that this was, or should be, one of the duties of the promotion committee, and action was deferred.

Zeno K. Myers, chairman of the promotion committee, will return from his mainland business trip on the next steamer.
